

FAITH
that SHAKES

A green metal chain is visible in the background, with a bright, glowing light effect emanating from the center. The text is overlaid on this background.

What's the relationship between faith and prayer?

A 3D rendered chain with a missing link, set against a background of light rays and a textured greenish-yellow surface. The chain is broken in the middle, with the two ends of the chain separated and the missing link floating in the air between them. The text is centered over the broken chain.

How do we grow
in our faith?

Why did God answer Jabez's prayer?

A broken metal chain is the central visual element, with one link snapped and pieces floating away. The chain is set against a background of soft, glowing green light rays that radiate from behind it, creating a sense of energy and hope. The overall color palette is dominated by various shades of green, from pale yellows to deep forest greens.

Why should we prayer this prayer?